Naloxone

Description générale

Naloxone is competitive antagonist with high affinity to opioid receptors (mu, kappa and signa). It is used to block or reverse the efffects of opioids, particularly in situations of opioid overdose.

INN	Naloxone
Codes ATC	V03AB15
Type de médicament	Chemical agent
Historique des statuts LME	Ajouté pour la première fois en 1977 (TRS 615) pour Unintentional exposure to or harmful effects of opioids or related analgesics
Wikipédia	Naloxone
DrugBank	Naloxone

Recommandations

Section Antidotes and other substances used in poisonings > Specific

- Parenteral > General injections > unspecified: 400 µg per 1 mL in ampoule (naloxone hydrochloride)

Indications

Unintentional exposure to or harmful effects of opioids or related analgesics